Here comes a painter – he's in a big rush –
(He's going to paint a sign.)
With big cans of paint and a big hairy brush.
(He's going to paint a sign.)

Here comes another one – this one is fatter!
(He's going to paint a sign.)
He has a big brush and a tall wooden ladder.
(He's going to paint a sign.)

The painter that's fat says, "It's time to begin!"
(The painters are painting a sign.)
But the one working hard is the painter that's thin.
(The painters are painting a sign.)

Rides the Little Circus Bear,
And the people down below
Cheer him as they watch him go!

I can lift a hundred pounds.

In my mouth or on my nose,
With one finger or with my toes,
Standing up or lying down,
I can lift a hundred pounds.

Hey, Mr. Strongman!

The Juggler's Jig

The juggler juggles all kinds of things.
He juggles boxes and burning rings.
He juggles bananas. He juggles hats.
He even juggles dogs and cats!
He juggles balls both small and big,
And while he juggles, he dances a jig.
He juggles sticks both short and long,
And while he juggles, he sings a song.

I juggle fast,
And I juggle slow.
I juggle high,
And I juggle low.
Oh, I'm the best juggler I know,
The very best juggler I know!

He juggles eggs and doesn't look,
And while he juggles, he reads a book.
He juggles apples, and while they're in flight,
He opens his mouth and takes a bite.
He juggles while lying in his bed.
He juggles while standing on his head.

He juggles with friends, and he juggles alone.
He juggles while eating an ice cream cone.

He juggles and juggles and doesn't stop
Unless what he's juggling happens to drop.
And if what he's juggling falls to the floor,
He just picks it up and juggles some more!

He juggles fost,
And he juggles slow.

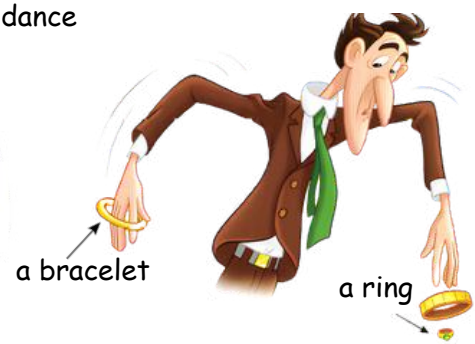
The Thin Man is almost as thin as a pin.
His thin nose is pointed, and so is his chin.
His legs are so thin that when he starts to dance,
Off come his shoes, and down fall his pants!



His house has no door, for the Thin Man's so thin
He just finds a crack in the wall and goes in!
He can't wear a bracelet. He can't wear a ring.
He's much, much too thin for that kind of thing.

I'd sit under a leaf to stay out of the sun.
I would swing on a string to have lots of fun.
I would take a bath in a very small spoon.
I would fly through the air on a tiny balloon.

When I Grow Up

When I grow up, I want to be a cowboy.
A cowboy's what I really want to be.
I want to wear a hat and boots.
I want to ride a horse
And do the many other things
That cowboys do, of course!
When I grow up, I want to be a cowboy.
A cowboy's what I really want to be.

When I grow up, I want to be a dancer.
A dancer's what I really want to be.
I want to stand up on one toe.
I want to prance and hop.
I want to jump up in the air
And turn without a stop!
When I grow up, I want to be a dancer.
A dancer's what I really want to be.

When I grow up, I want to be a pilot.
A pilot's what I really want to be.
I want to have an airplane,
And I want to fly it high.
I want to wave hello
To all the birds as they fly by!
When I grow up, I want to be a pilot.
A pilot's what I really want to be.

When I grow up, I want to be a doctor.
A doctor's what I really want to be.
I want to visit people
When they're sick
and feeling bad.
I want to make them better
So that they won't be so sad.

All eat a big breakfast the same as we do.

One cold morning, Mickey the Zookeeper
Woke up early and got out of bed.
He washes his face and puts on his clothes
Then took two buckets and went to the shed
To get breakfast for the animals

That cold morning, Mickey the Zookeeper
Took out his key and unlocked the door.
He picked up the buckets
and walked right inside
And . . . What?! . . .
Someone had opened the bags on the floor!

Mickey's Story

Every morning, yes, every morning,
I wake up early and get out of bed.
I wash my face and put on my clothes
Then take two buckets and go to the shed
To get breakfast for the animals

Every morning, yes, every morning,
I take out my key and unlock the door.
I pick up the buckets and walk right inside
And fill them with peanuts from bags on the floor
As breakfast for the animals

One cold morning, yes, one cold morning,
I woke up early and got out of bed.
I washed my face and put on my clothes
Then took two buckets and went to the shed
To get breakfast for the animals

That cold morning, yes, that cold morning,
I took out my key and unlocked the door.
I picked up the buckets and walked right inside
And . . .
Someone had opened the bags on the floor!

When You're a Detective

When you're a detective, you never know
Exactly what you'll need.
You never, never know. (No!)
You never, never know. (No, no!)
You never, never know what you will need!

You might need a hammer and nails.
You might need a lemon or two.
You might need a big ball of string.
You might need some paint that is blue.

You might need a horn or a drum.
You might need a bell or a clock.
You might need a cup or a brush.
You might need a chain and a lock.

You might need a very warm blanket.
You might need a big piece of cheese.
You might need a very soft pillow.
You might need a big ring of keys.

You might need a very loud whistle.
You might need a towel and soap.
You might need a very big feather.
You might need a long piece of rope.

A Very Strange Mystery

peanuts

Now, where do you keep the peanuts?
In this shed.
In this shed. Hmm, I see.
And how do you get inside the shed?
Through this door.

And how do you open up the door?
With this key.
And where are all the peanuts?
In these bags on the floor.

Who Took the Peanuts?

Who, who, who took the peanuts?
Who, who, who took the peanuts?
Who, who, who took the peanuts?
I will soon know
Who, who, who took the peanuts,
Who, who, who took the peanuts,
Who, who, who took the peanuts.
I will soon know who!

The Zookeeper's Helpers

Every day, the zookeeper's helpers
Help the zookeeper clean up the zoo.
They sweep up the peanut shells with a big broom
And hurry to finish, for after they do

They eat peanuts with the animals -
The animals that live in the zoo.
For all of the other animals
Love to eat peanuts as much as they do!

When the Sorcerer Wore His Magic Hat

When the Sorcerer wore his magic hat,
He could do many things that we cannot.
Yes, he could! Yes, he could! Yes, he could!

When the Sorcerer wore his magic hat,
He could change a butterfly into a cat!
Yes, he could! Yes, he could! Yes, he could!

He could do many things that we can't do.
He could change a flower from red to blue!
Yes, he could! Yes, he could! Yes, he could!

He could make a bird disappear,
Then make it appear again!
When he wore his hat,
He could do all that!
Yes, he could! Yes, he could!

Mickey's Work Song

Work, work, work! All I ever do is work!

I wake up early every day.
I get up with the sun.
And then I work until it's night.
My work is never done!

Magic Is Easy

Magic is easy!
Magic is fun!
Magic's the way to get the work done.
Yes, magic's the easiest way to get the work done!

I won't have to work from the time I get up
Until I go to bed.
I won't have to work at all
When I'm wearing this hat on my head.
Il dance and I'll sing,
And I'll do everything with magic!

I won't lift a bucket. I won't lift a book.
I won't lift a thing all day.
I'll just lift my finger and point,
And the broom will do just as I say.
It will come when I call,
And I'll do it all with magic!

Magic is easy!
Magic is fun!
Magic's the way to get the work done.
Yes, magic's the easiest,
Magic's the fastest,
Magic's the laziest way to get the work done -
And magic is fun!

The broom started to work.
The broom started to work.
It picked up the buckets
And went up the stairs.

The broom started to work.
The broom started to work.
It picked up the buckets
And went up the stairs.
It went to the well
And filled them with water.

The broom started to work.
The broom started to work.
It picked up the buckets
And went up the stairs.
It went to the well
And filled them with water.
It came back downstairs
And poured out the water.

The broom kept on working.
The broom kept on working.
It kept on picking up the buckets.
It kept on going up the stairs.
It kept on filling the buckets with water.
It kept on coming back downstairs.
It kept on pouring out the water.

It poured and poured and poured some more
Until there was water all over the floor.
And still it kept pouring

“Stop! Stop!” Mickey cried.
The broom wouldn’t stop working.
The broom wouldn’t stop working.
Up and down without a stop -
It filled the buckets to the top.
Water, water everywhere
Covered the table and covered the chair . . .

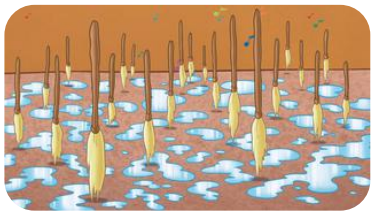
Mickey cried, “Stop! Stop!”
Then he took an ax and started to chop.
He chopped and he chopped as fast as he could.
He chopped up the broom into small bits of wood.

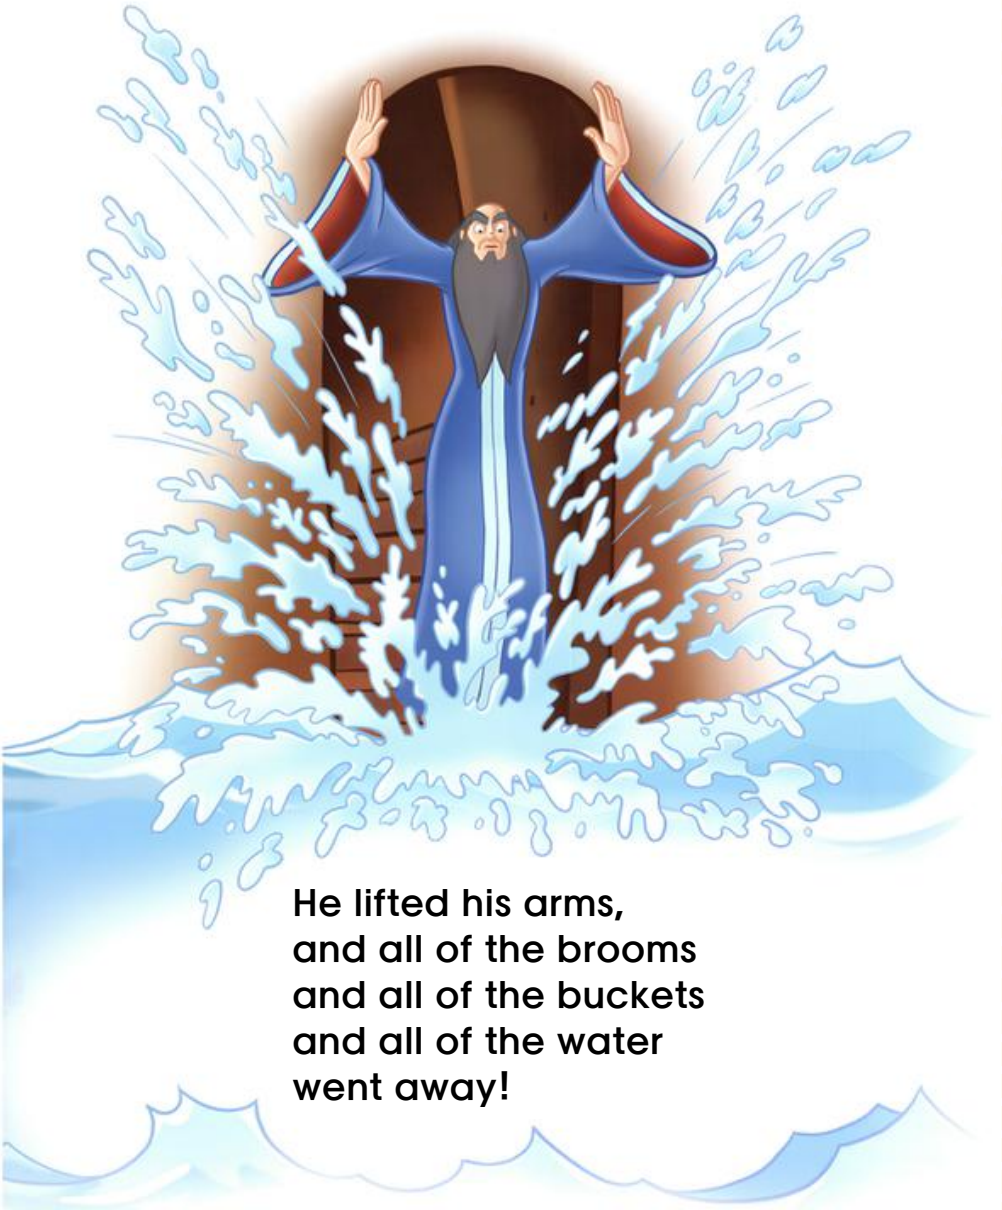
The wood started to move.
The wood started to move.
And each piece of wood
Turned into a broom
Until there were hundreds
Of brooms in the room!



And the brooms started to work.
The brooms started to work.
They picked up the buckets
And went up the stairs.
They went to the well
And filled them with water.
They came back downstairs
And poured out the water.

The brooms kept on working.
The brooms kept on working.
They filled the buckets to the top.
They poured out the water without a stop.
Down they came, two by two,
And Mickey didn't know what to do!

Just then he saw the Sorcerer's book.
He opened it up and started to look.
"Stop! Stop!" poor Mickey cried.
And then the Sorcerer walked inside!
The Sorcerer knew just what to do.
The Sorcerer knew just what to say.



He lifted his arms,
and all of the brooms
and all of the buckets
and all of the water
went away!
